PRATT Community College

Art/Graphic Design Program

Pratt Community College's art major offers a foundation program for students who want to transfer to a four-year school in art education, studio art or design.

Small class size allows students to get personal attention from instructors with industry experience.

While at PCC, students build a portfolio and have the opportunity to exhibit their work in the Delmar Riney Art Gallery on campus. The art gallery, which is open to students, community members and others, hosts a number of exhibits throughout the year. In addition, visiting artists present lectures, gallery talks, demonstrations, or workshops in conjunction with their exhibits.

Pratt Community College is a comprehensive community college, providing general education as well as technical education and business and industry training. Students can transfer to a 4-year university or enter the workforce upon graduation.

Pratt's main campus is 70 miles west of Wichita located in Pratt, Kan. It was founded in 1938. PCC has an eLearning Center located in Wichita and offers general services and online courses.

PCC Partnerships include: Pratt/Cowley Nursing Cooperative; Barton County Community College Partnership; Coffeyville Community College Partnership; Dodge City Community College Partnership; Fort Hays State University 2+2 Program.

Studio Art:

The Studio Art program classes help students gain experience and knowledge in a variety of foundation art classes. Our small class size and individualized attention greatly enhance students' educational experience. Many supplies and materials for the studio art classes are provided, saving students approximately $200 per semester.

Art Education:

Foundation classes in art and education prepare students to transfer to a university art teaching program.

“I am learning about art and design. The teachers are easy to relate to and use more hands-on methods than most instructors, which make the classes fun.”

- Chelsea Hoffman
PCC sophomore

Design:

Our design program creates opportunities for students entering a variety of design fields. Courses provide the foundation students need for these rapidly growing, in-demand fields. Students gain hands-on experience and create a portfolio to transfer to a university or to join the workforce. Our facility offers excellent studio work spaces and an Adobe Creative Suite computer lab.
